New Group Emerges For Sunset

Representatives of both a new non-profit group, Carmel Beautiful, and Arts Incorporated told members of the Sunset Commission Monday night these organizations have plans for the development of a municipal cultural and community center in Carmel.

The new group proposes to retain present structures on the Sunset Center site. Arts Incorporated favors demolition of existing buildings and replacing them with multi-million dollar development.

Carvel Baldwin, co-chairman with Wallace Doolittle of the Klenke Committee, presented commissioners with a written financial feasibility report for use of Sunset Center which included the information that Carmel Beautiful is being formed with the purpose of soliciting funds, time and talent from individuals interested in the development of the present Sunset buildings.

ARTS INC. REPORT

Malcolm Millard, a director of Arts Inc., told commissioners this group now is incorporated under the laws of the State of California as a non-profit corporation with tax-exempt status. He added that the legal name of the organization is now Cultural Arts of the Monterey Peninsula but it will continue to be known locally as Arts Inc. The name change was necessary because other corporations in California have names confusingly similar.

Secondly, Mr. Millard told commissioners that Arts Inc. has made a formal request to the California Arts Commission for aid in making a feasibility study of the proposed $5½ million new development planned by Arts Inc. for Sunset Center. Suggested during meetings in Monterey by the state commission as possible forthcoming financial aid for this study was $15,000, he indicated.

"We want to learn what to do from the sophisticated point of view," he stressed and added that Arts Inc. is working with and for the Arts Council of the Monterey Peninsula composed of eight local cultural organizations which have indicated they will use Sunset Center facilities. The Arts Council is co-sponsoring with Arts Inc. the request for the feasibility study by the state body.

Should financial help for the feasibility study not be provided by the state, Mr. Millard stated that members of Arts Inc. will try to finance the "study in depth" themselves. He also announced that a revised version of a lease of the Sunset site, between the city and Arts Inc., is almost ready to be given to city attorney William Burleigh for consideration by the city council.

BALDWIN REPORT

Mr. Baldwin's financial feasibility report for development of Sunset Center contained seven proposals.

1. All city administration offices including the building inspector's office be moved to Sunset Center.

2. Estimated cost for the construction of the proposed first phase of a civic center at Fourth and Junipero, including a new police station and corporation yard, as designed by Burde, Shaw Associates, be obtained.

3. The present city hall, police station and corporation yard be sold and funds thus derived be

Ap, Ap Hooray!

Fame, at last, is assured Commodore Thomas ap Catesby Jones who 123 years ago saw the future possibilities of the Monterey Peninsula and hastened to be the first to claim it for the United States.

His amazing foresight was honored Saturday night by the newly formed society which bears his name. Members care not at all that "ap" had to haul the Stars and Stripes down next day after he discovered Mexico and the U.S. were not at war.

On October 20, 1842, Commodore Jones landed with his crew, a daring act of which the T. ap Catesby Jones Society is inordinately proud because four years later, when Commodore Sloat successfully claimed our Peninsula for this nation, he didn't think enough of it to set foot ashore.

"Ap was here first" is the rallying cry of the loyal crew now faithful followers of Commodore Jones. They are plotting to picket Monterey's re-enactment of the Sloat "no landing" next July.

The support of Mayor Minnie Coyle was assured, members hoped, by taking up a collection to pay her dues because she gets no salary for her mayoral duties. Nickels, dimes and the one penny contributed added up to $2.36, equalling two years and a third membership dues. Minnie was so overwhelmed she couldn't speak.

THANKSGIVING IS MANY THINGS

For many, there will be the delight of welcoming home children, parents, or grandchildren—a time of reuniting to give thanks before a festive board where families gather together. For others, whose loved ones are far away, this Thanksgiving may be a day filled with prayers for their safety.

Among families who will profer special thanks is that of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. McMahan of Pebble Beach and Fresno, whose son, Ensign Michael McMahan, is returning on the USS Belle Grove after many months of duty in the far East. His arrival is most keenly anticipated by his fiance, Neal "Nickie" Wilson, who will be here from Long Beach for the holiday to make plans for their wedding on December 19. Her sister, Sherri, will also be home from the University of California at Santa Barbara to spend the brief vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rod Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand d'Avenas, who have just returned from a summer in Europe, will observe Thanksgiving in Los Alamos. Mrs. d'Avenas and their four children left Carmel after the close of school to meet Bertrand in Ireland, where they visited the Donnan Jeffers' family before continuing to the d'Avenas ancestral home in France and a bit of travel in Italy and Spain.

The Charles Beardsleys, contrary to what might be expected, will not have 20 turkeys, nor even 20 drumsticks. They will have, however, plenty for everyone, with each of the children except the youngest "turning to" to help. They, too, will offer a prayer for their brothers—Mike in Vietnam and Rusty on Okinawa.

Mrs. Lynne Mack will take her sons to Malibu for the holiday.

A large, warm family will gather together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Coniglio for this special day. In addition to Lisa, Cara and Philip, who will assist their mother, their bounty will be shared with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Coniglio and their children, Mary Sue, Regina, Ken, Michelle and Julie; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Coniglio and their daughter, Cathie Lucien; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Coniglio; Mrs. Mary Crivello and her daughter, Rose; and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Pratt.

At the festive table of Rear Admiral and Mrs. L. J. Hudson of Point Lobos will be Tom and Jane Hudson with Dan and Sally (Tim is still with the highly successful MRA show); Alan and Mary Hudson with their youngsters, Peggy, Betsey, Sandy, Martha and Peter — absent will be Mike Hudson, off to "boot camp" in the Navy. There will also be the David Hudsons with Sabra, Matthew and Holly from Peacock

Burleigh Battles Humble Refinery

When superior court adjourned for the midday recess today in Salinas, William Burleigh, attorney for the Six Cities Fund, had completed his presentation of witnesses in an endeavor to stop an oil refinery at Moss Landing.

Judge Richard Harris of San Luis Obispo was hearing arguments in the case which seeks to have a referendum on the refinery on the grounds that the Monterey County Board of Supervisors took legislative instead of administrative action when they granted a permit to Humble Oil and Refining Company on September 3.

Witnesses called by Mr. Burleigh included County Clerk Emmett G. McMenamin, County Supervisor Thomson J. Hudson, Court Reporter Frank Bray, Mrs. Dorothy Ford and Mrs. Lillian Churchill. Judge Harris, this morning, took under advisement the demurrer against the action filed by County Counsel William Stoffers. He was expected to present his arguments this afternoon.

Defendants in the action brought by the Six Cities Fund are each of the county's supervisors and the county clerk. At issue is a writ of mandate demanding that petitions for a referendum, signed by 15,000 registered voters, be accepted by the county clerk and acted upon by the supervisors.

Carmel Board Of Realtors Will Bring Architecture And Planning Authority Here For Public Talk

The Carmel Board of Realtors is sponsoring a talk by Allan Temko, one of the world's most respected critics and analysts of architecture and urban affairs, at Sunset auditorium on December 8 at 8 p.m.

Members of the community are invited to attend, without charge, as local realtors are bringing Mr. Temko here as a public service.

It has long been the desire of the Carmel Board of Realtors to offer Peninsula persons a chance to hear an outstanding and stimulating member of the architectural and environmental planning profession because of the unique beauty of the central coast area.

Allan Temko is a member of the Center for Planning and Development at the University of California at Berkeley. He has taught at the Sorbonne in Paris and while there completed his book, "Notre Dame of Paris," which won the Commonwealth Club medal as the best book by a Californian in 1955. His second major piece of writing "Eero Saarinen," published in 1962, was sponsored by the College of Fellows of the American Institute of Architects.

Last year, the Twentieth Century Fund of New York named Allan Temko director of a two and a half year, $60,000 study into "the environmental crisis in the United States brought on by anarchic urban expansion" which he is conducting at UC Berkeley. Previously, he received a Rockefeller Foundation Grant for the study of large cities as an expression of industrial civilization and a Guggenheim fellowship in 1956-57 for the analysis of California architecture.

His numerous articles, book reviews and critical treatises on architecture and urban development have appeared in Harper's and Horizon magazines, the New York Times and the Washington Post. His article, "San Francisco Rebuilds Again," appeared in Harper's in 1960 and won the A.I.A. first prize for architectural journalism. He also has been West Coast editor of Architectural Forum magazine and is now architectural and urban critic for the San Francisco Chronicle.

Art News . . .

The Laky Galleries, Ghirardelli Square, San Francisco, currently is presenting an exhibition of contemporary Chinese paintings shown at the New York World's Fair, all the work of members of the Chinese Art Association, the national artist organization of the Republic of China. A preview of the exhibition was held on Monday.

A statewide contest for professional and amateur artists to design a United States postage stamp honoring California's vast citrus industry, also commemorating nearly a century of its existence, has been launched by the National Orange Show and its citrus marketing committee.

The contest is open to everyone, but particularly to art students in high school and junior college classes, according to Woodrow Miller, the show's secretary-manager, and J. M. Van Horn, committee chairman. A cash award of $200 will be paid the winner.

Any medium—pen, pencil, brush—may be used in creating the design. Each entry should be created on paper — drawing paper, cardboard or other—no smaller than 8x10 inches and mailed to Stamp Design, National Orange Show, P.O. Box 29, San Bernardino, California, by midnight February 15.

"A Discussion of Primitive Art" will be the subject of a three-day seminar, December 3-5, to be held at Big Sur Hot Springs under the auspices of the Esalen Institute. In charge of the discussions will be Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, a collector of African art. His collection will be the focus of attention during the meetings. Dr. Hayakawa, a noted semanticist, is professor of English at San Francisco State College, and, because of his knowledge of a wide range of subjects, is often referred to as a "professor of things-in-general." He is author of two books, "Language in Thought and Action" and "Symbol, Status and Personality."

The seminar will begin at 9:00 p.m. on December 3 and conclude after noon on Sunday. The facilities of Big Sur Hot Springs (located 45 miles south of Monterey on Highway One) are available to those participating in the seminar and include hot sulphur baths, cliffside pool for swimming, hiking trails along redwood canyons and the use of a sandy beach.

Lincoln Curtis, above, carefully scrutinizes a piece of modern sculpture at the Carmel Art Association Gallery.

He is a member of Middle School seventh grade art classes which recently visited art galleries in Carmel under the direction of their art teacher, Joe Broadman. Over 150 students were given the difficult job of choosing the work of art that they would buy to hang in their own home, not their parents'. Each student had to draw a quick sketch of his choice for future discussion and to help him remember what he had seen. Many students had never been in an art gallery before and none had ever been faced with such a difficult assignment. "But I've found so many paintings that I'd like to draw" was the common complaint.

Dinner To Honor Burt L. Talcott Week After Next

Representative Gerald D. Ford (R.-Michigan), House Minority Leader, will come to Monterey County December 5 as speaker at a Congressional buffet dinner honoring Representative and Mrs. Burt L. Talcott.

The function honoring the Talcotts will be held at the Mark Thomas Inn in Monterey at 6:30 p.m., preceded by a no-host reception at 5 p.m. which is being sponsored by the Monterey County unit of the 12th District Congressional Committee and will be open to all people, irrespective of party affiliation.

Congressman and Mrs. Ford will fly to Monterey December 3 after speaking in Detroit, and will vacation on the Peninsula over the weekend.

Congressman Ford came into national prominence during the recent session of the 89th Congress, when he won the minority leadership of the house after a spirited contest with the Republican leader Charles A. Halleck. He is now serving his ninth term.

Mrs. Steven Sassoon (624-1664), Mrs. Frank Creede (624-4413) and George Yates (624-2727) are in charge of the $5.00 per plate ticket sales in Carmel.

For the first time in 28 years, Mrs. Joe DeMaria will not cook a turkey — instead, her husband and the children, Joelle and Joe Jr., will escort her to "dinner out." With them will be their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Nottenkamper and their sons. Although they don't expect restaurant food to measure up to Mrs. DeMaria's, the family is determined that Thanksgiving shall be a day of rest for her after her stay in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben Whittlesey and their daughter, Debbie, will welcome Eben's niece, Peregrin Whittlesey, from Scripps College. Another niece, Mrs. Anne Berthoin, and her four daughters will also be present. Mrs. Berthoin, who came to the United States with the Whittleseys when they returned from England this year, is now making her home in the Carmel Valley and completing requirements for teaching credentials in French and Spanish at the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies.

Mrs. Mariquita Brey arrived in the rainstorm Monday night to spend the Thanksgiving holiday here with her mother, Mrs. Charles Derby. She plans to return to her home at Rancho Mirage near Palm Desert on Saturday.

All 16 members of the family of Frank and Marjory Lloyd will be in Carmel on Thanksgiving and eating dinner at the Lloyd table also will be Mrs. Richard Lofton and her daughter, Melissa. Dick Lofton will spend the holiday in South Carolina with relatives. He is still being honored in his native state and next week will be present at the opening of an exhibition of his work in the state's capital, Columbia. A similar show recently honored him in Charleston. He plans to return to Carmel as soon as he has finished portrait commissions in the South and the vertebra which he broke recently is in condition for him to travel.

Children will outnumber adults at the home of Fred and Marcia Rider, who have invited Marcia's mother, Mrs. Edward (Gay) Kuster, and Marcia's brother and sister-in-law, Colin and Sylvia Kuster of Salinas. In addition to young Kate and Kevin Rider, the table will be stretched to include their cousins, Scott, Jayanne, Erich and baby Kent Kuster.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Rosewall's turkey will be served up for a family gathering but their hospitable home, in all likelihood, will be filled with friends.

Tomorow finds Sharon Predmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Predmore of Carmel Valley, in Europe. Sharon, who graduated as an honor student from U.C.L.A. last Spring, left Carmel in September with Mrs. Audrey Marten Tetley to travel in Spain and Italy. Now in Rome, she will visit Paris and other parts of France before her return trip.

It will be a full house at the home of Dr. and Mrs. John Faia Jr., with Mrs. Faia's mother, Mrs. Ruby Mars, there to lend a helping hand. Also present will be Dr. and Mrs. John Faia III and Ron Faia, who is a student at the University of Southern California dental school. Ron, of course, will be back again in December for his mariage to Susan Shirley. Unable to join them is Tom Faia, a student at the University of Oregon.

Judge and Mrs. Eugene Harrah and their daughter Shirley are looking forward to sharing Thanksgiving with Jean Harrah, who will have a holiday from her graduate studies at Chico State College.

Diena Farr will be home from Chico State with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Farr, and her sister Kathy. Mrs. Connell K. Carruth, organist at The Church of the Wayfarer and "almost family," will be their guest. David Farr and his wife will be absent, since he is now working toward his doctorate in botany at the University of Michigan, where he is also a teaching assistant.

Linda Stager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stager, is in Phuket, capital city of the island of the same name off the coast of Thailand, where she is enjoying teaching English in a girls' high school. A graduate of the University of California, Linda joined the Peace Corps in February and was assigned to Thailand in May.

Washington Wedding

Mrs. Dorothy Carmalt flew to Washington, D.C., Friday, to be present at the marriage of her son, Charles Harrison Agle, to Elizabeth May Clapp of Washington, D.C. The young couple's wedding took place last evening at the Westmoreland Congregational Church in the national capital.

Charles, who served in the Peace Corps in Peru, is continuing his studies at Johns Hopkins University School of International Relations in Baltimore, where the newlyweds will make their home.

His bride, the daughter of Mrs. Robert Allan Clapp, is a graduate of Smith College.

Also attending the wedding were Charles' brother, Kenneth Agle, who is doing graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania, and his sister, Lucy Carmalt, now a resident of New York City.

A Bride For Deen Rowe

On Saturday, Karen La Marr Schafer will become the bride of Phillips Deen Rowe II at The Church of the Wayfarer. Dr. K. Fillmore Grey of San Francisco will return to his former church to perform the afternoon ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schafer will travel from Bakersfield, with their son, Gregory, to be present at their daughter's marriage.

A graduate of Fresno State College, where she was affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, the bride-to-be is a teacher at the George C. Marshall elementary school at Fort Ord.

Deen, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Rowe of Pebble Beach, attended Menlo Junior College and graduated in business administration from the University of California. Following graduate study, he worked in Zurich, Switzerland, before becoming an associate in his father's business in Carmel. He is the brother of Don Rowe of Salinas.

Karen's maid of honor will be Judi Gillan, a sorority sister from Fresno State.

Deen has asked Steven Gann, currently stationed at Fort Ord, to be his best man.

After a wedding reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents, the newlyweds will leave for a honeymoon in Hawaii and plan to make their home in Pebble Beach. Dean's future, however, will be governed for some time by the status of his National Guard unit, which has just been reclassified for active duty.

Games People Play

"I've just been on the Johnny Carson Show," Dr. Eric Berne announced in a telephone call from New York to friends in Carmel last Thursday. As a result, the following evening the friends watched the author of "Games People Play," a national best seller, appear with Al Capp, creator of "Lil Abner" cartoon strip, on the late evening television program. Dr. Berne was back home in Carmel on Saturday night receiving plaudits for the excellence of his TV personality and witty explanations of how some people conduct their lives.

FIRE CALL MONDAY

The Carmel Volunteer Fire Department responded to a call at 7:30 p.m. Monday to extinguish a fire at the residence of Mrs. Josephine M. Johnson, Camino Real and Tenth avenue. Although structural damage was limited to a wall and the living room ceiling, smoke and heat caused a still undetermined amount of loss throughout the house.

The fire resulted from the ignition of newspapers which Mrs. Johnson had placed to dry on the floor furnace in the living room.

Traditional serenading of the bride-to-be announced the recent engagement of Pamela Petersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard C. Petersen of Carmel, to Floyd Robertson Smith at the University of California at Davis where both will graduate in January. The young couple, shown above, have chosen February 5 as the date of their wedding at All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel.

Pamela is the granddaughter of Mrs. Milo J. North of Belmont and the late Mr. North, and the sister of Mrs. Paul Jones Jr. of Half Moon Bay, Maynard C. Petersen Jr., a sophomore at U.C. Davis, and Timothy J. Petersen, a freshman at Monterey Peninsula College.

A graduate of Sunset and Carmel High schools, Pam attended the University of Colorado, where she was a member of Delta Gamma sorority, before transferring to U.C. Davis. This past year she was enrolled at the University of Madrid under the U.C. Davis Education Abroad Program and spent last summer traveling in Europe with her brothers.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack G. Smith of Moraga and the brother of Mrs. John Craig of Chico. He will receive his B.S. degree in mechanical engineering at U.C. Davis, where he is president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, at the end of the term.

To See Life 'Down Under'

On Monday, Nancy Roberts will board the Matson liner Oronsay for Sydney, Australia, to try living on the other side of the world until next August, possibly longer. While in Sydney she will make her home with Mrs. June Strosnider, a former Carmelite, and her three daughters, Robin, Sandy and Gay. Fair Ladies Open House

Mrs. Gabriel (Mary) Burnette, hostess at a neighborhood coffee hour, found that she had gathered together a group of ladies with creative talents who loved to make things, and thus was born "The Fair Ladies of Carmel." They have met weekly ever since for a morning workshop and party lunch, later continuing to make unique gifts, favors, decorations, old world bouquets and table arrangements for the benefit of All Saints' Episcopal Church, of which each is a member.

On December 1, The Fair Ladies are inviting their friends to a tea and open house, where they will hold a display and sale of their handmade Christmas gifts, decorations and flower arrangements. Coffee and tea will be served from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Burnette, north Hatton Road near Stewart Place. The display and sale will take place at the home of Mrs. Symington Goode, just across the street from the Burnette home. Assisting the hostesses are Mrs. Richard Murtland, Mrs. Benjamin F. Sowell, Mrs. Morris Sheldon, Mrs. Gladys M. Jones, Mrs. William Ballard and Mrs. Robert Reynolds.

Highlands Chapel Popular

On November 20, the chimes above the picturesque chapel at Highlands Inn rang out for the 500th wedding performed there this year, according to owner Robert J. Ramsey.

Prior to construction of the chapel, which attracts couples from all over the world, marriages were often performed near its present site under the trees or the stars with the pounding surf and the wails of seagulls substituting for the traditional Lohengrin.

The Wisharts Return

With the coming of snow in the Sierra and temperatures falling to 24 degrees, Mr. and Mrs. George Wishart have closed their summer home at Tahoe City to return to the warmer clime of Carmel.

Plans For A Wedding

The intricacies of wedding arrangements are occupying Annabelle Herbert, whose engagement to Michael Dennis Gahagan of San Francisco was recently announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Crawford Herbert of Pebble Beach. The young couple will be married at Carmel Mission Basilica on December 18.

The bride-elect has asked her sister, Mrs. Per Wehn, to be her matron of honor. Her other attendants will be her fiance's sisters, Mrs. Chapin Pearson Hunt Jr. and Lissa Lynne Gahagan; her sister-in-law, Mrs. George Lyon Herbert; and Suzanne Smith of Carmel.

Mark Thomas Gahagan will serve as his brother's best man and the ushers will be Annabelle's brothers, John Crawford Herbert and George Lyon Herbert; Michael Carroll and Robert R. Gallaway.

A graduate of Carmel High School, Annabelle studied at Willamette University, Oregon, and the University of Florence in Italy.

Her future husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George William Gahagan of San Francisco. He will graduate from Stanford University in June 1967. A 1958 graduate of The Overseas School of Rome, he studied at Occidental College and served with the Army Security Agency in the Far East and Washington. Affiliated with Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, he will relinquish his membership in The Bachelors of San Francisco when his wedding takes place.

Home For Thanksgiving

Seaman Apprentice Thomas A. Leutzinger, USN, will be home for Thanksgiving dinner with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Leutzinger. Tom, who has been awarded the U.S. Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal for his supporting role in combat operations off the coast of Viet Nam while serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Midway, will have a three-day leave when the ship docks at Alameda this week. The big carrier is returning after almost nine months of operations in the South China Sea with the U.S. Seventh Fleet.

TICKETS AVAILABLE FOR MPC FREE FILM

"The Old Dark House," a 1963 British film starring Robert Morley, Joyce Grenfill and Tom Poston, based on a J. B. Priestley novel, is the December 3 offering of the Monterey Peninsula College Theater Arts Group.

There will be two screenings in the MPC Music Hall—at 7 and 9 p.m. Free tickets will be available at the administration building switchboard from November 26 and may be secured by mail when requests are accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

'Inherit The Wild' Next Audubon Film

An alligator building a nest, an eagle taking a bath, and a manatee stuffing food into its mouth with its whiskers are just three of the wonders to be seen in "Inherit the Wild," the November 30 presentation in the Audubon wildlife film series at Pacific Grove Junior High School auditorium, 8 p.m.

The full color film was made and will be narrated by D. J. Nelson, famed wildlife photographer who has traveled in 72 countries on five continents. As an Audubon Society lecturer, he is a vigorous defender of the conservation principles of this national organization. His motion picture, "Inherit the Wild" voices the conviction that all living creatures have a role in nature's master plan and that we must be increasingly vigilant and determined in our efforts to block interference with the natural workings of our wild heritage.

The film is being presented by the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History. Tickets may be obtained there or at the door on the night of the film showing.

Magnificent Book Issued About Our National Parks

BY C. EDWARD GRAVES

"National Parks of the West"—A Sunset Book. Advance price $9.95 (after December 31, 1965 $11.75), 320 pages, 11x9 inches.

This new addition to national parks literature was published on October 20 by the Lane Magazine and Book Company, Menlo Park, California. It is a magnificent book, illustrated with large numbers of photographs, many of them full-page in color, all done by the leading photographers of the country.

Besides the descriptive material it has approach maps of the different parks for the convenience of motorists. It also has, in an appendix, a "travelers' guide" for each of the national parks—information about accommodations and activities and services.

The 63 national monuments, some of which may be of national park caliber, are listed in the appendix with a brief characterization of each. The difference between national parks and monuments is brought out very clearly in the introductory chapter. Death Valley, for instance, is at present in national monument status but many conservationists feel it to be worthy of inclusion among the national parks.

A striking double-page color photograph of Glacier Peak and Image Lake in Washington's North Cascades by Martin Litton, Sunset's travel editor, is used to pose the question: Will this be the next national park? For the last seven or eight years the Sierra Club and other conservation groups have been devoting their best efforts toward this end but obstructions by the lumber and mining interests have so far prevented its establishment. A new book describing this project is now in the process of publication by the Sierra Club.

The Sunset book is limited to the western parks — 20 in all, including Alaska and Hawaii. It does not, therefore, have as wide a coverage as Devereux Butcher's two books, "Exploring Our National Parks and Monuments" and "Our National Parks in Color." There are nine parks east of the Rockies omitted in the Sunset book but described in the Butcher books.

One of the newer national parks included in the Sunset book is intentionally omitted in the Butcher book. This is Petrified Forest National Park in Arizona. This reviewer took an active part in the effort to prevent Congress from changing the status of Petrified Forest from that of a national monument to that of a national park. Many conservationists felt that it was not truly of national park caliber but Congress finally yielded to pressure from the Arizona chambers of commerce and gave it national park status in 1962.

One minor error appears in the jacket blurb. The statement is made that "a complete chapter is devoted to each of 21 western national parks." Actually there are only 20 chapters. The 21st national park is Canyonlands National Park in Utah, established in 1964 but there is no chapter describing it — only one black-and-white photograph. This is by Philip Hyde, a friend of mine and a former Carmel resident who is very enthusiastic about the attractions of this park.

I recommend the book as a fine Christmas gift for travel-minded friends.

TRAVEL INDUSTRY MEETINGS

Travel industry leaders from the western United States will arrive here next week for meetings of the Western America Convention and Travel Institute. Four-day sessions will begin Sunday and last through Wednesday at the Casa Munras and Mark Thomas Inn with special trips planned to hotels and visitor attractions in Carmel and the Valley.

Carmel Highlands Author And Burdick Write 'A Shocker'

"Sarkhan" is a shocker.

Written by a retired U.S. Navy captain, William J. Lederer of Carmel Highlands, and the late Eugene Burdick, associate professor of political science at the Berkeley campus of the University of California, this novel recently issued by McGraw-Hill Book Company presents a picture of this country's relation to Southeast Asia nations threatened with Communist infiltration and eventual conquest.

In a previous book by the same two authors, "The Ugly American," indication was given of the United States' blundering abroad. "Sarkhan" further explores this theme by pinpointing our mistakes in regard to one small country, supposedly secure and peaceful, also friendly to the United States.

As the plot unfolds, the reader is caught, as are the inhabitants of Sarkhan and various political agencies in the United States, in a sequence of events leading to destruction, on indirect order of the U.S. President, of damning evidence on Communist infiltration and activity on all levels of Sarkhanese society.

But what makes "Sarkhan" so truly shocking is the implication that as goes one small country, so may all of Southeast Asia . . . unless.

The powerful prose of Lederer and Burdick presents a powerful picture and a no less powerful message to all thinking persons. But it's not pleasant contemplation.

Foreign Educators Will Visit Woods School Next Week

Two foreign educators who are in this country as guests of the U.S. State Department will visit Mrs. Kay Goines' kindergarten class at Woods School on Wednesday morning next week. They are Professor Boris Lipuzic, deputy secretary of the Republican Secretariat for Culture and Education of Slovenia, and Professor Vladimir Cvetko, director of the Institute for the Advancement of Education of the Socialist Republic of Slovenia.

Interpreter for the visitors will be Borut Dekleva, a former Carmel resident whose child was a Woods school pupil.

The professors will come here from a week of observing in Palo Alto and at Stanford University. Wednesday afternoon they will spend at the Institute of Foreign Studies in Monterey. If their schedule permits, Mrs. Anna Kohner, Woods School principal, and Dan Yurkovich, assistant administrative superintendent of the Carmel Unified School District, will entertain the educators at lunch.

Mrs. Goines, whose teaching techniques they will observe, has given demonstrations at Stanford and is considered an outstanding California kindergarten teacher.

Sierra Club Conservation Films To Be Shown, Free, In December

"Glen Canyon," a vivid portrayal of the spectacular natural wonders that were submerged by Glen Canyon Dam; "Wilderness Alps of Stehekin," a close-up of one of the most beautiful areas of the Pacific Northwest; and "War in the Redwoods," a documentary on the California coastal redwood country, are three sound and color films to be presented in a free public showing December 9 at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium of the Pacific Grove Junior High School.

The showing is being arranged by the conservation and education committees of the Ventana Chapter of the Sierra Club which has over 550 members within Monterey County.

The films are being presented in an effort to inform individuals of three major concerns of the conservation interests of the Sierra Club and are considered to be among the finest in the club's outstanding film library.

The matters which will be presented in the group of films are conservation concerns which are expected to come up before the second session of the 89th Congress of the United States which will open in January.

"The Voice of the Desert," a color film by one of the country's most distinguished naturalists and writers, Joseph Wood Krutch, was a highlight of the fall dinner meeting of the Ventana Chapter held last Thursday night at the Mission Ranch. Two hundred twenty-five people from throughout Monterey County attended, including Ansel Adams, a director of the Sierra Club and C. Edward Graves, ardent conservationist, writer and life member of the club. Hosting the meeting was chairman of the executive committee, Dr. L. Bruce Meyer. Newly elected members of the committee are Mrs. Ruth Albee of Palo Colorado Canyon and Samuel Hopkins of Carmel and Big Sur.

FIRST VISTA POINT ON HIGHWAY ONE

The first of several "vista points" along Highway One—named as one of the first Scenic Highways of America—is located on a double curve just south of the Garrapata Creek bridge at a point referred to by a variety of names, such as Abalone Cove, Sea Otter Cove and Little Lobos. The point is identified by signs along the highway approaching from the north and the parking area, which will accommodate several cars, is bordered by hand hewn redwood posts joined together with a large link chain. Two more "vista points" are scheduled to be installed at a later date, along the scenic highway south of Carmel.

TRIP FOR THE DENGATES

"The weather was perfect, the fall coloring beautiful and Minnesota was out of this world" — these words describe in part the Ralph Dengates' just concluded month-long vacation, a holiday that took them on a 7,000 mile swing around the United States. Mr. Dengate, who is superintendent of the maintenance station, Division of Highways, Big Sur, and his wife, Loretta, started their trip by going south to San Diego then via the southern route through Arizona and New Mexico and north and eastward to Minnesota where many of Mrs. Dengate's family and friends live in and about the towns of Wells and New Richland. The next part of their happy journey was to North Dakota and their native town of Jamestown and the home of Mrs. Dengate's father, Harry Schultz.

The homeward trip was the northern route to Montana for a visit with one of their three sons, William, who is stationed as Glasgow, Montana, with the U.S. Strategic Air Command. Another son, Wayne, is also a member of the U.S. Air Force, now stationed in the Philippine Islands. Soon after the Dengates' return to Big Sur, the third son, Willard, who is associated with a business firm in San Luis Obispo, visited his parents before going to Northern California on a hunting trip.

FROM ALASKA TO BIG SUR

After two years in Alaska, Robert Gamble, who has recentliy come to Big Sur, finds the redwood trees, the Big Sur River, the creeks and streams and the dramatically beautiful Santa Lucia Mountains a most refreshing and appreciated contrast. Gamble is the newest member of the staff of Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park, a work that he finds most interesting, diversified and enjoyable.

Bob Gamble, is a native of La Honda, a town in the Santa Cruz Mountains about 45 miles south of San Francisco. His interest in the park service, as a career, goes back to college days when he was a summer lifeguard at Portola State Park. At San Mateo Junior College and San Jose State College Bob Gamble was a chemistry major, but his enthusiasm for his summertime job brought about a serious study of park management. On leaving college, Bob became a full time member of the staff at Portola State Park. This occupation, however, lasted for only a brief period for he was soon drafted into the U.S. Army and was sent to Alaska where he served as a supply sergeant at

Bloodmobile Will Be Here Next Week

Edgar Bissantz, acting chairman of the Red Cross blood program, has announced that the bloodmobile will make its final Carmel visit of the year on December 2 between 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. The bloodmobile will, as usual, be stationed at the Red Cross chapter house, Eighth and Dolores streets. Appointments may be made by telephoning 624-6921, although they are not necessary.

Mr. Bissantz states that Red Cross officials are eager to have as many donors as possible appear because of the normal increase in blood needs during the holiday season.

College President Spoke At Wayfarer

Dr. Robert E. Burns, president of the University of the Pacific, spoke at the Church of the Wayfarer last Sunday morning.

Following the church services, a luncheon was held in his honor at La Playa Hotel. Alumni, parents and friends of the University of the Pacific were invited to this luncheon. Dr. Burns spoke informally following the luncheon about recent developments at the university, California's first chartered institution of higher education.

President Burns is the first alumnus of the university to become its president. He assumed the presidency in 1946. Since entering as a freshman in 1927, Dr. Burns has given a lifetime of service to the University of the Pacific, first as field secretary for the college, then as placement office and alumni secretary, registrar and assistant to the president.

The SUR COAST

By Elizabeth Fuller Jones

a base near Anchorage.

Before coming to work and live in Big Sur, Bob Gamble visited Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park some years ago when he was returning from a trip to Mexico. At that time he visited with Park Ranger Fred Parson and thus had his first glimpse of this, one of the most popular parks in the state park system. He is appreciative of the fact that he has come to his new work during the quieter winter months when there is more opportunity to learn about all areas of the park and its surrounding country. Bob is interested in all types of sports and, within the short time he has been in Big Sur, has explored the back country, "gone fishing," and joined the Post's bowling team.

HANSHEWS LEAVE

For over four years Mr. and Mrs. Marion Hanshew were members of the Big Sur community where Mr. Hanshew was on the staff of Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park, and where the family was active in the affairs of the community. Recently Mr. Hanshew has taken a new assignment at Jack London Historical Monument near Sonoma and Mr. and Mrs. Hanshew have moved to that area. The younger members of the family, one a student at Monterey Peninsula College and the other a senior at Carmel High School, are temporarily living in Carmel until the close of the school year in June.

JIMMY SWINNERTON DAY

Jimmy Swinnerton Day, a day honoring the patriarch of desert painters and a former Carmel resident on his 91st birthday, was observed in special ceremonies followed by a reception held at at the Desert-Southwest Art Gallery in Palm Desert last Saturday. Among the patrons of the arts and friends of Mr. Swinnerton gathered to honor the well-known cartoonist, painter and writer were your Sur Coast correspondent and family. The "Day" was set aside by special resolution of the board of supervisors of Riverside County.

James Swinnerton went to work for William Randolph Hearst on the San Francisco Examiner in 1893 and later on the New York Journal. For years he did a daily cartoon strip and a "full-page" on Sunday and is perhaps best known for his "Little Jimmy" and the "Canyon Kiddies" which were a regular feature in Good Housekeeping magazine. Mr. Swinnerton's love of the Arizona and New Mexico desert and its native people, the Indians, also his extraordinary ability to bring the happenings of their everyday living to the world by way of cartoons, brought him fame and countless friends. Irving Cobb, Rupert Hughes and Will Rogers were among his close associates and friends.

In acknowledgement of the many expressions of appreciation of Mr. Swinnerton's contributions to the art and literature of the Southwest, the artist said of his long life-time of activity, "have a sense of humor, understand more of what life means, and never cease to wonder and enjoy the beauty of the world about you."

At the reception, following the ceremonies, Mr. Swinnerton cut his tremendous birthday cake that was decorated with an exact duplicate of one of his paintings of Monument Valley which hung on the wall of the gallery over the cake. At reception, too, Jimmy Swinnerton was busily engaged in autographing his latest book, a delightful children's volume entitled "Hosteen Crotchetty."

During the time that James Swinnerton spent in Carmel, he caricatured the duties of an editor of the Pine Cone using the then editor, Perry Newberry, as his model. The cartoon is shown above.

Security National Bank President Tells Of Record Growth

William A. Burkett, chairman of the board and president of Security National Bank of Monterey County, announces that a new record growth has been established for the bank. He states that, in 1965 the bank's gross income will exceed one million dollars for the first time in the bank's 76-year history. He also announces that deposits have increased to $17,347,460.07, representing a growth of 38% since December 31, 1964.

Mr. Burkett says that the bank's million dollar gross earnings totaled 670% more than they were at the time he purchased the bank in April, 1961. While establishing these new growth records, Mr. Burkett also pointed out that the bank's loan losses were less than one one-hundredths of one percent, one of the lowest loss records in the state.

Based on quarterly reports to the Comptroller of the Currency for the period from April 12, 1961 to October 13, 1965, Mr. Burkett says the bank has progressed as follows:

Deposits, 642% (from $2,277,-781.00 to $16,891,026.00); Loans, 1050% (from $1,107,801.00 to $12,-742,836.00); Capital, 544% (from $174,928.00 to $1,125,696.00); Assets, 642% (from $2,459,483.00 to $18,246,278.00).

The formalized application for the merger of Security National with United Bank of California was filed last week in San Francisco, by United California Bank, with the State Superintendent of Banks and the Federal Reserve Board. Mr. Burkett says final governmental approval is not expected before March or April, 1966.

The United California Bank announced that all of the bank's officers and personnel will be retained. Mr. Burkett says his health necessitates his retirement, but that he has agreed to remain as part-time consultant for U.C.B. for the next ten years, and will continue to reside in Pebble Beach.

Party Plans

By Phyllis Jervey

Parties planned and food made ahead is the only way to entertain says expert Iola Lusier. Sundays are usually for resting but energetic Iola and her husband, Mark, keep open house most weekends. They enjoy themselves as much as their guests because Iola's strategy for relaxed party-giving is to prepare everything a day in advance.

A true Carmelite, Iola's enthusiasm stems no doubt from her teen-age days when she played baseball with the Abalone League. Those vigorous games took place either on Carmel Point or in Hatton Fields or Carmel Woods. Some of the team members were such present day Carmel luminaries as Jimmy Doud, Helen Heavy and Fred and Harrison Godwin. Petite Iola with her "joie de vivre" kept right up with them all.

Iola's following menu and recipes are especially good for a pot-luck supper, or one that needs extending when students bring their pals home "en masse." Best to have several casseroles prepared and frozen to be baked at the whim of your youngsters' holiday hospitality.

Orange-lemon punch makes a hit with the school crowd. It's so refreshing after the surf, sand and sights of Carmel. Best of all it's easily made on short notice. Everyone will compliment the pretty garnish of frozen orange juice cubes with a red cherry in the center.

HAPPY HOLIDAY BUFFET

ORANGE-LEMON PUNCH
(Makes 3¼ qts.)

Two cans, each, frozen concentrated orange and lemon juices; 10 cups (2½ qts.) cold water.

Mix frozen orange and lemon concentrate with water. Pour over orange juice cubes and serve. To make the orange juice cubes, add water to frozen concentrated orange juice according to directions on can. Pour into refrigerator ice cube tray and freeze. Use these flavorful juice cubes both for punch and in glasses of orange or other fruit juice. To be really partified, add a maraschino cherry in center of each cubes midway in the freezing process.

IOLA'S CARMEL TAMALE CASSEROLE
(Serves 12)

One large onion; butter; 2 lbs. ground chuck; 1 large pkg. medium width egg noodles; 3 cans IXL Boneless Beef Tamales; 1 large can cream style corn; 1 large can pitted ripe olives, drained; grated sharp yellow cheese.

Slice the onion thinly and saute in butter with a little water. When the water is gone, the onions will be ready. Put them into a large crockery bowl. Add more butter and the meat into the same pan in which the onions were cooked.

When meat is no longer pink, add it to onions in large bowl. In meantime, cook noodles in salted boiling water until just done; drain. Add to meat mixture. Open canned tamales and chop coarsely with fork. Add corn and olives. Mix together and put in long flat baking dish. Top with grated sharp cheese. Bake in 350F. oven about 40 min. or until bubbly. Prepare day ahead, refrigerate and pop into oven at the first ring of the doorbell.

NEVER FAIL ZUCCHINI SOUFFLE
(Serves 12)

One large onion, thinly sliced; 6 large zucchini, shredded; 1 pkg. herb-flavored bread stuffing; salt and pepper to taste; 3 beaten eggs.

Saute onion in butter; add to shredded zucchini. Saute together in more butter. In casserole, make a layer of onion-zucchini mixture, seasoned to taste, then a layer of stuffing also lightly sauteed in butter. The last layer should be of bread stuffing. Allow to cool. Pour beaten eggs over all. Refrigerate and bake before party in 350 F. oven until custard-like.

ORIENTAL BEANS
(Serves 12)

Two pkgs. frozen green French-ed stringbeans, cooked; 1 large can bean sprouts, 1 can cream of mushroom soup, undiluted; 1 can French fried onion rings; 1 small jar pimiento strips, optional.

Cook beans according to package directions; drain. Make a layer of green beans, mushroom soup, drained bamboo shoots and top last layer with onion rings. Decorate with pimiento strips if desired. Prepare day ahead, refrigerate and bake before party.

FRUIT DELIGHT
(Serves 12)

Two large cans fruit cocktail; 2 cans mandarin oranges; 2 cans angel flake coconut; 1 large pkg. miniature marshmallows; sour cream.

Mix together (with fruit juices) in large glass bowl. Refrigerate overnight. Next day add 1 large container sour cream. Mix together and refrigerate until serving time. Serve with homemade sugar cookies or buy them from the bakery. Then dance to stereo until the small hours for this is vacation fun time!

Next week we will continue our appetite-teasing holiday hints.

Oscar Wilde Comedy At Studio Theatre Has Pace That Is Brisk, Effective

BY DOROTHY REED

"The Importance of Being Earnest" is surely one of the most delightful plays in the English language. Its plot is as improbable as a Gilbert and Sullivan libretto, and its characters give the audience a chance to laugh at the folkways of British aristocracy without the sting of serious satire. The only villains are lack of money, low birth and horrible coincidence, and in the end coincidence reverses its role and brings everything out happily.

The comedy by Oscar Wilde opened last weekend at the Studio Theatre in Carmel under the direction of Michael Keller who has paced it briskly and creates effectively the series of tableaux that drawing-room comedy calls for.

The lines are marvelous. The actors express one preposterous sentiment after another, make unmannerly personal observations, contradict themselves firmly and display whims of iron, with such wit and sparkle that obtuseness is funny and rudeness quite inoffensive.

Acting honors go to Betty Fowlston as Lady Bracknell, the noblewoman whose domestic tyranny is exceeded only by her inquisitiveness into others' affairs, and Gertrude Chappell as Miss Prism, the sentimental novel-writing governess whose carelessness with property provides the key to the story's denouement. John Beckman Jr. plays Canon Chasuble, the country rector whose duty to religion takes a comfortable second place behind his respect for the local gentry; he wavers hilariously between man and mouse.

Of the four young persons whose affairs are in a muddle because each lady wishes to marry a man named Ernest, the women come off better than the men. Layne Littlepage as the high-born Gwendolen Fairfax becomes more sympathetic as the play goes forward, but an unbecoming hat and a severe coiffure in her opening scene make her appear something less than the ideal romantic heroine. Shawn Guild, with her long fair hair and apple-cheeked complexion, looks the part of Cecily Cardew, the country-bred heiress, but her voice is unpleasant.

Keith Decker as Algernon lacks the style of Edwardian elegance and self-assurance that his part needs. He resembles far more the loose-limbed, insouciant young Englishmen who are so fashionable today than the impeccably dressed, crisp-mannered dandies of the 1890's. His diction in particular is middle class — it ought to crackle, even with a mouthful of muffins, and even without them, it doesn't. The same flaws, to a lesser degree, mar the characterization of Algernon's friend Jack, portrayed by Sean Tracy.

The play's dialogue, however, rescues everyone. It might be questioned whether the director, playing a servant, really ought to ham up his scene to such an extent as to steal it momentarily from the principals, but he is so funny as he does it that he has to be forgiven.

Settings by Ruth Jordan Allan and costumes by Adele Bramlet are handsome and appropriate for the period; the outdoor scenery of a country garden in the second act provides a contrasting backdrop for the studied mannerisms of the action.

The Studio itself is, as always, relaxed and intimate in its atmosphere, and in these days of uncertain weather the combination of dinner and show in the same place is especially happy.

Ap, Ap Hooray!

Bouldry and William Curtis seemed to be of the opinion that they were attending a meeting of a drinking society not a true gathering of "ap's" staunch supporters. No collections were taken to pay their memberships.

Barbara J. Sewell, membership and recruitment chairman, reported 74 persons had joined the society but only 58 had paid their dues. She emphasized that these stragglers would lose low number membership card status in the society unless they ponied up soon. Charter memberships remain open, at least until the next meeting, which will be held on December 18.

On this date it is hoped that the strength of the crew will be considerably increased. An extra issue of a pannikin of rum for all hands who entice "suitable natives of sound mind and body to join the ship's company," will most probably be forthcoming, at their own expense. A full crew will eliminate the necessity of sending press gangs through the Peninsula on April 1, 1966.

Commodore of the ap Catesby Jones Society's Pacific squadron is Bertram F. Rudolph. Barbara Burdick is vice commodore. MacLucas Tegardine Bowe is ship's clerk; Frank T. Childs, purser; and Simeon L. Ostermeir, historian.

Altrusa Club Fashion Show

Apparel for the woman at work and for her leisure hours will be featured in "Fashions for Career Women," a dinner and show to be sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula chapter of Altrusa International Inc. on December 1 at the Studio Theatre. Dinner will follow a social hour which begins at 7 p.m., evening having been chosen with the working woman in mind.

Funds raised by Altrusa are contributed to worthy projects or individuals as the need is brought to the attention of the organization. The group has assisted the nursing program at Hartnell College, The Lyceum, Beacon House, the Girl Scouts and various activities of the handicapped. Another of its interests is job re-education for women who, for one reason or another, must return to work later in life.

Mrs. David Stevens will act as commentator for the show, and all Altrusa members will serve as hostesses. Modeling the work-and-fun fashions will be Mrs. Ted Dietrich, Mrs. Peter Ferrentino, Jo Ellen Murphy, Miss Kathleen McGaughey, and Mrs. Sinclair Wright. Mrs. Arthur Holman will provide piano accompaniment for the models.

Tickets for the event are available at Central Box Office and Footlights and Fancy, Carmel or Monterey.

The Character of Carmel

A Thanksgiving celebration 50 years ago at Pine Inn was declared an unqualified success from beginning to end. Townspeople and their friends gathered in the hotel parlors, then had a splendid dinner which lasted an hour and a half. Following this, there was an impromptu program of story telling and reading and the party closed with "a good old fashioned Virginia reel," according to the Pine Cone's account. Cost of attending the affair was 75 cents.

Lotta Crabtree was a guest at the hotel and the report continues by saying, "To the everlasting credit of the more than 100 persons present, be it said that knowing Lotta to be present and knowing, too, that it was her desire not to be lionized and made much of, they very considerately permitted the noted little woman to partake of her dinner and depart in peace."

Lotta, who had charmed the people of the United States with her singing and dancing was resting while in Carmel after a trip across the continent from her home in Boston to appear at the San Francisco Exposition of 1915.

Another feature of Thanksgiving Day in Carmel a half-century ago was a Thanksgiving service in the morning at the Forest Theater.

New Group Emerges For Sunset Center Site

used to finance the first phase of the new civic center.

4. City Administrator Hugh Bayless and City Finance Officer Arthur Plaxton be designated to manage Sunset Center after city offices are moved to the site.

5. Hostelry tax non-reserve funds presently totalling $54,000 be used to improve existing structures at Sunset Center.

6. Carmel Beautiful, the new non-profit group which is being formed, raise the necessary $21,000 to operate Sunset Center from volunteer contributions from individuals and other interested sources thus removing the burden placed on taxpayers in the 1965-66 budget.

7. Immediate steps be taken to provide an acoustical shell, new flooring and lighting for the auditorium as well as beautifying the decor in the auditorium, its entrance and foyer.

Mr. Baldwin told the Sunset Commission that the above report represented the basic thinking of the Klenke Committee and that more details on the development would be presented later.

The Baldwin report was referred to the commission's finance committee for study, then report at the December 20 meeting of the Sunset Commission.

LEAKS AT SUNSET

Other matters brought to the attention of the Sunset Commission Monday were the settling of pillars supporting the stairway to the auditorium balcony and water leaks consequent to recent rainfall.

The major leak was on the east side of the auditorium wing near the Mission Street entrance north of the gymnasium and resulted in inundation to a depth of one inch of the gym floor.

Commission Secretary Hugh Bayless stated that the necessary repair work on the stairway could be done by city personnel. He was asked to get information on leakage condition repairs for Commission Chairman Peter Dyer. On receipt of this data, Mr. Dyer will decide whether or not to hold a special meeting of the commission or authorize the necessary steps to be taken himself.

Mr. Bayless reported that requested use of the auditorium promises that this facility will be well used for the next one and a half to two years.

Democrats To Hold Reception Tuesday For Robert Coate

On Tuesday, a reception and dinner are planned in honor of Robert Coate, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee. Mr. Coate has been treasurer for the Democratic Party in California for the past two years and for 14 years has been active in politics in the fields of voter registration, getting out the vote and fund raising.

The reception, from 5 to 7 p.m., will be held at the home of Senator Fred S. Farr, with Carmel Women's Democratic Club members acting as hostesses.

Dinner will follow at 8 p.m. at the Casa Munras in Monterey. Reservation requests with checks ($5.00 per person) should be sent to the Monterey County Democratic Central Committee, P.O. Box 306, Monterey.

ANOTHER STORM

Thunder, lightning, hail and heavy rain wakened Carmelites about 1 a.m. this morning. Rainfall now is well ahead of last year at this time having passed the five-inch mark. New grass is making the hills green for Thanksgiving.

THANKSGIVING 1965

WE ARE GRATEFUL FOR A SUCCESSFUL YEAR AND FOR MANY NEW FRIENDS.

To "round out the year" we will be available for business as usual during the Thanksgiving week-end to help you achieve the goal of a "HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS."

In CARMEL we have several listed at less than $35,000. This may surprise those who have been dismayed by the high prices of most Carmel properties. One is a two bedroom little number located on a large wooded lot, quite secluded yet not far from mid-town. It is listed at $28,500 and some "fixing up" is needed. Another is in perfect condition, on a sunny, level lot with one big tree and no shrubbery to require attention. Two big bedrooms, each with modern bath to make this a delightful home for a retired couple. The sacrifice list price is $31,500. Another "Carmel Charmer," cute and clever, suitable for one person is only $25,000 and there is a studio in which to finish that mystery story or carry out any artistic pursuit. $26,500 will buy an older, redecorated two story house in which central heat has been installed. And for $34,500 it is possible to get a "down Easter" type of rambling house, carpeted throughout with three bedrooms, two baths, sunny patio and ready to move right into.

Other, more expensive ones, are available, too. Some with water views and some with views of the evergreen hills and mountains.

If you prefer some other area on the Peninsula . . . Pebble Beach, MPCC, Monterey, Del Rey Oaks, Pacific Grove . . . your desires shall be our guide.

Or, perhaps you want to LEASE a home for six months, one or two years. We have several, both furnished and unfurnished, from which to choose. They range from a "typically Carmel" cottage within walking distance of the village at $150 per mo. for one year or longer to a dignified two bedroom two bath home, fully furnished, on the Fairways and with an ocean view in MPCC available at $350 until June or July 1966.

Another choice is to build your own home, using the ideas and plans you have developed over the years. We offer an ocean view lot in upper Pebble Beach at the bargain price of $15,500.

ON THE RIM OF THE MESA is a house to see if you need 3 bedrooms, 2 baths and beauty inside and out. The valley views are dreamy and the master bedroom spoils you for anything less. The family room is ideally planned and there's a den separate from the rest of the house for getting away from it all,—(it has a bar, too!). The owner is anxious for you to see it at $43,500.

FOR RENT—a studio cottage with fireplace, stove and refrigerator. Ideal for one person. Close in. $75 a month on lease.

Andrew Wiemann

Private funeral services for Andrew Charles Wiemann, a prominent Carmel resident since 1934, were held Wednesday afternoon in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove, with the Reverend James R. Spaid of Saint Timothy's Lutheran Church officiating.

Mr. Wiemann, who had recently been hospitalized and was under treatment for a nervous disorder, took his own life Monday afternoon at his home on San Antonio and Fourth streets. According to Monterey County Coroner Christopher Hill Jr., he had slashed his wrists with a razor blade. A physician pronounced him dead at the scene.

His wife of two months, the former Gladys V. Solvin, was visiting a friend at the time.

Manager of the Carmel Standard Oil station for 36 years, Mr. Wiemann was an untiring worker in behalf of the American Red Cross and was instrumental in establishing the ambulance service here in 1937. He served as a member of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department from 1941 to 1953, at one period acting as an instructor in first aid. He was a member of Carmel Lodge No. 680 F&AM, Monterey Elks Lodge No. 1285 and Carmel Rotary Club. During World War II, he served in the U.S. Army for a short period, receiving an honorable discharge.

Born in Berkeley on December 20, 1907, Mr. Wiemann came to Carmel in 1934 with his first wife, the former Myrle Julia Kelleher, whose death occurred April 30 of this year.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Dierks of Vallejo; a cousin, Mrs. Gertrude Pietrobono of Saratoga; and an aunt, Mrs. Wilhelmena Hausser of Palo Alto.

Friends wishing to remember Mr. Wiemann may do so in the form of contributions to the Community Hospital, P.O. Box HH, Carmel.

Inurnment took place at El Carmelo Cemetery Mausoleum. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Mel Campbell Heads Business Association

The Christmas meeting of the Carmel Business Association will be on December 2 at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. A social hour starting at 6:30 p.m. will precede dinner at 7:30 o'clock. The Carmel High School Glee Club under the direction of John Farr will be on the program which will follow a short business meeting. No reservations will be accepted after November 30.

Officers for the coming year, selected by the nominating committee, are Mel Campbell, president; August Johnson, vice-president; Don Crosby, treasurer. Other members of the executive committee are Margaret Berry, Carl Bosholm, William Burleigh, John Cunningham, William Jennings, Charles McEwen, William Ober, Barnet Segal and I. H. Staples.

Carmelights by Piñon

Dorothy von Meier will end her globe circling travels next week. She is expected in San Francisco on Sunday and shortly thereafter will be back home in Carmel ready, we hope, to resume her chairmanship of the Carmel Planning Commission. To sort of tidy up her trip, we publish below several of her last travel reports which we have not been able to give before.

ENGLAND

Hedge rows and thorn trees and stone and rock wall;
The green fields of Devon and moors of Cornwall
Are dappled with sheep and fat,
browsing cattle;
The hills topped with monuments to some long-ago battle.
Each village square blazes with glorious blooms
And quaint, thatched cottages have wee dormer rooms.
Buckfast and Glastonbury are the "Abbey Flowers"
In a land of cathedrals, castles and towers.
Avalon and Tintangel, home of the Round Table,
King Arthur's legend of knighthood and fable.
Hardy, Scott and DuMaurier extolled its glory,
This England of romantic rhyme and story.
Had lunch in Bourton-on-Water and then
To Warwick's great castle, built in 1210
Then crossed the Avon to the home of the "Bard"
Shakespeare, the glory of old Stratford.

(P.S.—And NO billboards either.)

HOLLAND

Amsterdam's so tidy and neat,
They scrub the steps and wash
the street.
Brick houses, sitting all in rows,
But glass and concrete as Amsterdam grows.
In Leyden, the old university
town,
The place of scholars of world
renown,
Law students study in an ancient prison,
Academicians sit and listen to reason.
Students read schedules in Latin text
Where Pilgrim Fathers found refuge and rest.
The Hague's old Parliament buildings stand
In brick-paved courts, not overly grand;
Reflecting the stolid regents
limned
By Hals, van Dyck and Rembrandt van Riijn.
In Harlem, the old canals in town
Hem in the houses; red, white and brown,
With their stepped, geometric edges
And gardens bordered by box hedges.
The old church retains its pillars through the Schism
When Calvinists removed traces of Catholicism
Is forgotten now—and old Harlem is known
For tulips, daffodils and hyacinths grown.
On bicycle, scooter and little
DAF car
Past polder and flower fields stretching afar
They ride on brick roads beside canals
Also painted by de Hooch and Brueghel and Hals.

MUNICH

Munich is noisy and Munich is gay
A place to have a holiday.
The wine is flowing, the beer barrel gushes
And through the streets the traffic rushes.
The Glockenspiel whirls and puppets dance
Nymphenburg Schloss is a place of romance.
In coffee houses, stout fraus wear
"Grossmutter" hats on coiled hair
And underneath the noon-time sun
The burgers confer and business is done.

A whimsical touch has been added to one of the giant Roscelli garbage trucks by its crew — a bouquet of white hydrangeas on the front bumper. Perhaps someone would like to contribute something a little more fragrant for Christmas.

Whirling with the wind around Point Lobos a week ago, I was startled almost out of my shell. Against a backdrop of crashing waves over by Gibson Beach path a wedding was taking place, with a photographer focusing his camera on several bearded gentlemen and mink coated ladies huddling together against the elements. Spurts of rice rose among the throng every few seconds . . . looked a bit like a spouting people whale.

Churches Of Carmel Combine To Hold Thanksgiving Service

On Thanksgiving Day, special masses will be recited at Carmel Mission Basilica at 7:30 and 9 a.m. At All Saints', a festival communion service will be held at 10:30 a.m. The boys choir will sing and thank offerings of non-perishable food will be accepted.
